DOWNWARD TREND IN SUGAR PRICE CONTINUES

Raw Sugar Quoted at 13.04 Cts. and a Further Reduction Predicted by Fall

New York Aug. 16.—Raw sugar prices continue to slump and traders say the end is not yet in sight. One thing is certain, the bugaboo of a sugar famine with the consumer paying 50 cents a pound next winter has been dispelled by the unprecedented decline. Fifteen cents a pound retail this fall, with a probable further reduction when the new Cuban crop is available in December, was predicted by sugar merchants and refiners.

The sudden collapse of the market is the direct result of conditions arising from the shortage last spring according to a well posted sugar man. The confectionery trade, chain grocery stores and other large consumers, being unable to buy from the refiners, contracted for shipments from Java, Formosa, China, Brazil, Argentina, Holland and other foreign countries. The bulk of this foreign sugar is coming in now.

The price broke two weeks ago and has been tobogganing ever since setting a new record for fluctuation in the sugar market. A week ago raw sugar sold at $16.30 cents a pound; today $13.04 was quoted. Next week it would surprise no one in the trade to see the price fall below 10 cents, which would mark a new low record for 1920.

The price of refined sugar has begun to reflect the downward trend. One large refinery has already marked its wholesale price down from 21.10 cents to 17.10 cents a pound. Retailers who have hoped to get from 25 to 30 cents a pound for sugar they paid 20 and 22 cents for are getting panicky and unloading at the price they paid or less.

Shall America enter heart and soul on the work of maintaining the peace of the world as she did on the task of winning the war?"

"To these questions Governor Cox has answered yes and Senator Harding has answered no. If the Evening Post, during the week which has elapsed since Governor Cox's speech of acceptance, has held in abeyance its declaration of choice between the two candidates, the reason was not that we were in doubt concerning Governor Cox's affirmative stand on the treaty and the league. We waited only to see whether Senator Harding would hold fast to his policy of negation."

SMUGGLING BOOM LAID TO REPUBLICAN CONGRESS

"Economy" Blamed for Inability Of Officers to Enforce Prohibition Laws

Washington, Aug. 15.—Desire of Republican members of Congressional appropriations committees to effect an apparent saving in appropriations merely for campaign use is responsible for the inability to enforce Prohibition laws properly and guard against smuggling.

This direct charge was made by officials of the Treasury Department, who pointed out that earnest recommendations made to the appropriations committees for sums sufficient to employ a force large enough to carry out the provisions of the Prohibition and customs laws were either ignored or killed on the floor.

At the last session of Congress the Treasury Department recommended the appropriation of an additional $1,000,000 for the enforcement of Prohibition from January to June of this year. This appropriation was refused because of the opposition of Representative Good.

Later, the department recommended the inclusion of $2,000,000 in the Sundry Civil Bill for this purpose, and while it was killed in the House the Senate voted $2,300,000 for the customs service with the understanding that at least $500,000 was to be used to enforce the Volstead law. In conference he total sum was reduced to $1,000,000, with the specific provision that not a cent be used to enforce Prohibition.

—In making the recommendation for the appropriation Treasury officials pointed out that the customs service is charged with the duty of preventing smuggling and that previous to the passage of the Prohibition Act the force was barely sufficient to carry out the law, but with the additional burden of preventing the importation of rum, "it is an absolutely hopeless proposition unless our force can be increased to at least twice its present size."

"Neither the customs laws nor the Prohibition laws can be rigidly enforced with the present available number of agents," a high official said.

VALUABLE GLASS SAND IN GRAYSON COUNTY

Prof. Charles H. Richardson, Head of the Department of Mineralogy of Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., has been in Leitchfield several days this week investigating the possibilities of the white sands at the base of the Big Clifty formation for the manufacture of various kinds of glass. Excellent glass sand has been found on the farm of Jesse C. Lee, one mile northeast of the Court House; on the farm of James Morris, three-fourths mile northwest of the Court House, and on the Falls road one-third of a mile beyond the Walnut Hill Cemetery. The thickness of the sand is estimated to be about 50 feet, and the supply adequate for the establishment of a glass factory at Leitchfield.

The white sands of East View and Tip Top are also excellent glass sands and the supply of this material in Grayson and Hardin counties appears inexhaustible.

Prof. Richardson is Assistant Geologist for the State of Kentucky and is working under Prof. Willard R. Jillson, State Geologist. The results of Prof. Richardson's research work on the glass sands of Kentucky will be published this fall as a Bulletin of the Kentucky Geological Survey.

Leitchfield has the three requisites for the manufacture of glass, viz.: ample supply of white glass sand, limestone for a flux in fusing the sand and natural gas, which is the ideal fuel.—Leitchfield Gazette.

Dr. R. L. Brandenburg, pastor of the Fordsville Baptist church, was elected Moderator and Rev. Birch Shields, of Cromwell, and Rev. Russell Walker, of Hartford, were elected as assistant Moderators. Other officials elected were: Mr. A. M. Smith, of McHenry, Secretary; Mr. F. M. C. Jolly, of Fordsville, Assistant Secretary; Mr. Wm. Fair, of Hartford, Treasurer. This will make the twelfth year that Mr. Fair has held this position. Rev. B. F. Jenkins one of the oldest ministers of this section of the state, delivered the annual sermon.

A special reason for holding the Association, at Pond Run this year was the fact that the members there desired to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the Pond Run church. The Association will meet at Slaty Creek in 1921.

SMUGGLING BOOM LAID TO REPUBLICAN CONGRESS

"Economy" Blamed for Inability Of Officers to Enforce Prohibition Laws

Washington, Aug. 15.—Desire of Republican members of Congressional appropriations committees to effect an apparent saving in appropriations merely for campaign use is responsible for the inability to enforce Prohibition laws properly and guard against smuggling.

This direct charge was made by officials of the Treasury Department, who pointed out that earnest recommendations made to the appropriations committees for sums sufficient to employ a force large enough to carry out the provisions of the Prohibition and customs laws were either ignored or killed on the floor.

At the last session of Congress the Treasury Department recommended the appropriation of an additional $1,000,000 for the enforcement of Prohibition from January to June of this year. This appropriation was refused because of the opposition of Representative Good.

Later, the department recommended the inclusion of $2,000,000 in the Sundry Civil Bill for this purpose, and while it was killed in the House the Senate voted $2,300,000 for the customs service with the understanding that at least $500,000 was to be used to enforce the Volstead law. In conference he total sum was reduced to $1,000,000, with the specific provision that not a cent be used to enforce Prohibition.

In making the recommendation for the appropriation Treasury officials pointed out that the customs service is charged with the duty of preventing smuggling and that previous to the passage of the Prohibition Act the force was barely sufficient to carry out the law, but with the additional burden of preventing the importation of rum, "it is an absolutely hopeless proposition unless our force can be increased to at least twice its present size."

"Neither the customs laws nor the Prohibition laws can be rigidly enforced with the present available number of agents," a high official said.

VALUABLE GLASS SAND IN GRAYSON COUNTY

Prof. Charles H. Richardson, Head of the Department of Mineralogy of Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., has been in Leitchfield several days this week investigating the possibilities of the white sands at the base of the Big Clifty formation for the manufacture of various kinds of glass. Excellent glass sand has been found on the farm of Jesse C. Lee, one mile northeast of the Court House, on the farm of James Morris, three-fourths mile northwest of the Court House, and on the Falls road one-third of a mile beyond the Walnut Hill Cemetery. The thickness of the sand is estimated from the outcrops and bearings to be about 50 feet, and the supply adequate for the establishment of a glass factory at Leitchfield.

The white sands of East View and Tip Top are also excellent glass sands and the supply of this material in Grayson and Hardin counties appears inexhaustible.

Prof. Richardson is Assistant Geologist for the State of Kentucky and is working under Prof. Willard R. Jillson, State Geologist. The results of Prof. Richardson's research work on the glass sands of Kentucky will be published this fall as a Bulletin of the Kentucky Geological Survey.

Leitchfield has the three requisites for the manufacture of glass, viz.: ample supply of white glass sand, limestone for a flux in fusing the sand and natural gas, which is the ideal fuel.—Leitchfield Gazette.

Club Work An Opportunity For Boys And Girls Of Ohio County

The Boys' and Girls' Club work is an organization that is not only of National importance but is becoming International in its scope. Last year the State of Kentucky had approximately five thousand Club members, while the largest membership any State had, was forty seven thousand. The entire enrollment of the United States was nearly seven hundred and fifty thousand boys and girls. The value of the products produced by these Club members was estimated to be $20,000,000. Hence anyone can readily see that it is a work not only of cash value but it also has a value of another nature that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. Our National leader of Agriculture, Secretary Meredith believes Club work to be one of the most important phases of Agricultural Extension.

Educational Phase

The farmer of tomorrow in order to successfully compete with his fellows must have a certain amount of education along his line. Club work gives this Agricultural Education at a time in a Boy's or girl's life when they can most readily learn it. Then when the Boy or Girl becomes of age they have the necessary training and are ready to apply it. Whereas if we wait until they are grown to give them this training, they will be required to spend a good deal of time in learning the fundamental principles, which time they could be using for their own interest had they been in Club work. Education in Scientific Agriculture is given in Club work thru the County Agent, Home Demonstration Agent, Junior County Leader or Junior Community leader. Also by means of bulletins, circulars, and other literature sent out free from the State University. Besides the practical education in Agriculture the Boy and Girl will be given a view of the possibilities of Farming and the Country Life.

Social phase

Each member of a Club besides working hard on their project, in every well organized club has a good social time. It is a proven fact that we can do more and better work if we take part of our time for well directed play. This applies to the Farm Boy or Girl just as much as to any other Boy or Girl. Club workers realize this and have prepared to give the members of their Clubs a certain amount of social life. The Club as a unit has its meetings, where the different projects are discussed and outside speakers are heard. A literary program may be had, camps made be used or Club parties and Club picnics. The boys and girls may invite their parents on special occasions, general community gathering resulting, which serves to build up a co-operative community spirit that is the making of a better place in which to live.

Slay The Weeds

Lexington, Ky.—The weeds are growing high and should be out during August and this is also an ideal time for cleaning all fence rows where weeds and bushes are growing. Weeds detract from the looks of the farm and when allowed to grow, soon cause seed to be carried over the farm, when a little work in August would keep the weeds down and interfere with next year's crop. When weeds and bushes are cut, burn them. The farm without weeds is most valuable.

Farm Bureau

Settings of pure stock eggs—car load lots of limestone—it is all one to the Marshall County Farm Bureau; the object is improvement and economy for farmers.

Carefully kept records show that the Farm Bureau in a very short time has saved members of the bureau $2505.00 on the co-operative buying plan. Among its activities the Marshall County Farm Bureau includes the buying of 300 settings of White Rock eggs and 500 baby chicks as well as car load lots of limestone. R. R. Miller is president. A. A. Thomson secretary and K. I. Varney County Agent.

As the result of the work of the Union County Farm Bureau many farmers from that county spent Tuesday August 3rd, at the Greenville Soil Experiment Field, near Greenville, in Muhlenburg County. "Come with us and be converted" said the invitation sent out to farmers. Many went and many were converted after viewing and hearing from men familiar with the work what had been accomplished as the result of the use of limestone and acid phosphate.

On August 11th and 12th the County Agent of Union has arranged for a poultry culling demonstration. Four places will be visited each day, so arranged that the eight demonstration will be within reach of all in the county.

Members of the Washington County Farm Bureau, Ross Taylor County Agent, will go to Lexington August 16 and 17th in automobiles for a trip to the Experiment Station and to visit the prominent farms in that section.

Swine Sniffles More Frequent

Lexington, Ky., Aug.—In a recent discussion of swine diseases, Dr. W. W. Dimmock, Head of Veterinary Department, College of Agriculture, said "There are many more cases of sniffles, in swine, reported now than used to be and the disease is apparently on the increase. According to my observation, the disease most frequently occurs on premises and grounds that have been occupied by pigs for a number of years and occurs in increasing numbers year after year. The first year often only a very few pigs will show symptoms indicative of sniffles; the second year twice the number of the year before will show evidence of the disease and so on until in many instances after several years a very large percent of the pigs on the farm will show symptoms of the disease to greater or less extent."

"The first sign of the disease is characterized by a watery discharge from the nose. The discharge sooner or later becomes grayish or greenish in color and thick and lumpy in consistency. The change in the character of the nasal discharge is dependent upon inflammatory processes of the nasal mucous membrane, brought about from the presence and action of the numerous species of micro-organisms which become lodged in the inflamed tissues. The effected animal manifests considerable irritation of the nose, frequently breathes with difficulty from partial occlusion of the nasal passage way by inflammatory exudate and shows evidence of depression and unthriftiness. Loss of flesh to the point of emaciation is a frequent outcome. In many cases, the bones of the face and nose become thickened. This thickening is due, to an increase, in the size of the cavities and cellular structures of the bones. The bulging of the bones of the face and nose with a marked tendency for the nose to turn upward is a rather typical characteristic of the disease. It produces, in the straight nose type of hog, the general appearance of a Berkshire except that the bulging is out of proportion to the other structures of the head. In other cases, rhinitis is marked, but instead of involvement of the bones of the face infection gains entrance to the blood and lymph streams and there develops a suppurative inflammation of the superficial lymph glands of the body and the animal dies from septicemia or pyemia. In human medicine, a condition similar to the form where the bones of the face are involved, is spoken of as lion head (leontiasis). If we open the nasal cavities we find more or less muculent exudate and not infrequently a thick diphtheritic membranous exudate. Upon the removal of the exudate, the normal glossy appearance of the mucosa is seen to have been lost and in extreme cases there has resulted considerable destruction of the surface cells."

Feed Chickens Sour Milk

Lexington, Ky.—Sour milk or buttermilk will make eggs very fast and is one of the cheapest egg producing feeds on the market. Make an effort to buy some of this feed for your chickens if you do not have the milk at home, perhaps a neighbor will sell you some cheap.

Crimson Clover Circular Ready

Lexington, Ky.—Methods of sowing and the value of the crimson clover has been ably discussed in a circular just off the press which can be procured by writing to the Experiment Station. The Department of Agronomy at the College of Agriculture has found that crimson clover is one of the best soiling and green manuring crops. This crop should be sown during the early part of August and about 20 pounds of seed to the acre be used. This can be sown with a clover seeder, followed by light disking so as to cover the seed, or by the clover seed attachment found on most grain drills.

Send Eggs to Market

Lexington, Ky.—During the hot weather, eggs should be marketed daily or at least every other day, as this lessens the possibility of their spoiling. The poultry department, College of Agriculture, recommends that eggs should not be placed in a large box during hot weather as their own heat will, in many cases, cause damage. This can very largely be offset, however, if the eggs can be marketed every day or two.

Time For Celery Planting

Lexington, Ky.—Late celery should be set in the early part of August. Dig a trench about four inches and put the celery plants in it. Give the plants careful attention and water them when necessary and cover them also when the sun is hot until they become well established in the ground. The Garden Circular, from the College of Agriculture, will tell you how to grow late celery.

Don't Mix Breeds

A dairy cow manufactures milk and a cow of any of the beef breeds puts on flesh and fat. A mixture of the blood of these types is a scrub. The following paragraph on this topic, is taken from a recent issue of the Southern Agriculturist:

The development of the dairy industry in Tennessee and Kentucky goes right along with the development of the beef industry. New creameries and cheese factories are being established and some neighborhoods are definitely turning to dairying while others are establishing herds of beef cattle and definitely going in for beef raising. This is well. There is room, and need, for both more beef cattle and more dairy cattle in this part of the world, and the greatest profit will come to both milk producers and beef producers just as they get the type of cattle best fitted to their particular purpose. There should be no crossing and mixing of these two types of cattle, however. That is what kills so many of our cattle now. The farmer who wishes general-purpose cattle should get them from one of the general-purpose breeds. He should not attempt to get them by an intermingling of beef and dairy blood. Such a mixing will result in the future, just as it has in the past, in giving us only more scrubs and scrubber scrubs.

Farmers Ship By Truck

That an enormous amount of live stock is being shipped by trucks is shown by this clipping taken from the Southern Agriculturist:

The farmer, who visits the Bourbon Stockyards at Louisville, Ky., will realize at once the huge growth made in the hauling of live stock in trucks. Whole fleets of trucks, big and little, back up to the chutes daily to unload hogs, sheep and calves. Even when a full load of hogs is not available in one neighborhood, the thrifty truck driver will bring in a few hogs and a hog-head of tobacco.

These trucks are bringing an enormous number of animals to the stockyards and these numbers are growing larger each month. In 1919 about 30 per cent of all the sheep, lambs, hogs and calves received by the stockyards came in trucks. A small portion of this livestock was hauled as much as 50 miles over fine turnpikes while the major portion was loaded within 30 to 50 miles of the city. Of course, as good roads develop the use of trucks for the transportation of livestock will grow in proportion.

The farmer needs good roads for his automobile. He, also, needs hard roads for trucks so that his stock may go on to the market rapidly and in perfect condition.

Women suffering from backache, lame muscles, stiff joints, rheumatic pains, or other symptoms of kidney trouble will find relief in Foley Kidney Pills. Mrs. L. Mrs. Christman Felt Like Different Woman Before First Bottle of Trutona Was Finished

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 17.—"Before I had finished the first bottle of this wonderful medicine Trutona, I felt like a different person," says Mrs. Kate Christman, who lives in Louisville at 727 East Walnut Street.

"I was suffering from a paralytic trouble in my left side. The trouble was so severe I could hardly get around. I tried to get relief, but the means I resorted to didn't help me much. One day a friend told me about Trutona, and advised me to try the medicine."

"I bought a bottle of the Perfect Tonic, and as I said before, it was not long before I felt like a different woman. Before I began taking Trutona, if I would bend over, I'd become so dizzy I'd have to hold on to something to keep from falling.
But, now I'm able to reach down
and pick up things from the floor without any support. In fact, I'm able to get around like a young woman, now. I advise all who need a Perfect Tonic, to try Trutona."

Trutona is really a medicine of unusual merit. It is unsurpassed as a reconstructive agency, system purifier and body invigorant. It has been declared peerless as a treatment for stomach, liver and bowel troubles.

Trutona is sold in Hartford, at James H. Williams, and in Beaver Dam, at the Beaver Dam Drug store.

NOW FOR PAPER SUITS

Washington, August 14.—Paper suits, much in vogue in Germany and Austria, soon will make their appearance in the United States,
and, if inquiries to the Department of Commerce can be taken as an indication of the probable demand,
they may become even more popular in the lower-the-cost-of-living campaign than was the overall a short time ago. Cable orders for samples of the suits have been dispatched by the Department of Commerce, it was announced Friday,
and when the samples arrive they will be displayed, not only in Washington, but in important cities of the country.

Grow Things To Eat

The gardens of America helped win the war. The farmer's garden this summer may help him save a great deal of hard cash. The Southern Agriculturist has the following to say on this important subject:

All the indications now are that crop production is going to be seriously cut down this year by the scarcity of farm labor. Thousands of acres of land are likely to remain untillied simply because the labor to till them cannot be had.
The farmer who grows foodstuffs to sell this year is going to be "in it."
The farmer who has to buy is going to be hard hit. Grow things—especially things to eat—to the limit of your ability. You will not lose by it.

The world owes every man a living but sometimes it's a deuced
hard debt to collect.

The "old soaks" are all getting hot under the collar and calling the prohibitionists "reformers" and 'cranks.' However that may be, it takes a crank to turn a grindstone
and this one has hewn the whiskey traffic away.

The world, we are told, is going crazy over spiritualism. Well, it must have some kind of spirits—if not spirits of grain then spirits of the dead.

There is only one difference between a profiteer and a hog—the hog lays down and grunts when he is scratched and the profiteer grunts and roots into our pockets all the harder.

WAR TAXES

Recovered From Merchants When
Revenue Agents Check Up
Sales In Toledo

Toledo, Ohio, August 14.—The Government is richer by $40,000 as the result of a visit by a "flying squadron" of internal revenue deputies who uncovered discrepancies in the handling of war taxes collected from customers by Toledo Merchants.

Part of the tax shortage was willful, but most of it was due to poor methods employed by merchants and their clerks in keeping proper check.

The biggest shortage uncovered
by the deputies were at soda fountains. Other places where shortages were found included jewelry, shoes, haberdasheries, woman's wear and drugstores. It was found also that auto owners who used their cars for hire were not paying taxes.

The flying squadron worked but four days. Two men have been engaged since. Scores of small dealers collecting war taxes have not been reached. Shortages of anywhere from $5 to $25 generally are found in these places.

Economic phase

Every Boy that joins a Club and decides to grow a pig, a acre of corn, a quarter acre of tobacco, a dairy calf; or a girl that is interested in canning, or sewing or cooking starts his or her project only after the Club leader or County Agent
or Home Demonstration Agent
has gone over the project with him and sees that they are going to make money out of the project.

Club work is a practical money making proposition. It increases the family income and gives the boy
or girl a little money of their own,
the use of which they learn at an early age. Many Boys and Girls have made good money in Club work. A girl in Simpson County has practically paid her expenses
thru college by means of canning work. A boy in Floyd County last year raised one hundred and thirty five and three quarters bushels of corn on one acre, realizing a clear profit of $171.78. Another boy in a southern county made $375. on a chicken project of 56 hens. Still another boy made $51.35 by fattening a pig. Many other similar and more exceptional cases could be given. But Club work is old enough for authorities to know that it is a financial success.

An Opportunity

Boys and Girls here is an opportunity to make some money and have something of your own. Do not fail to considerate it and think of the prizes you may win at the county fair, or State fair. Or of the trips to the State Fair and to the University at Lexington free of expense to you. And parents, do not stand in the doorway and prevent your Boy or Girl from having this opportunity not only to learn something worth while, and make a little money but also your Boy or Girl will become interested in the farm and will stay with you so that you can have a family life and home life that is the highest in character.
So call your County Agent and organize a Little Club in your Community and start right now to build a better county of tomorrow.

tra, of Louisville, Ky., they are

BOYS

BOYS are well-known. You don't have to go to far lands or to the County Fair to look upon them. Everywhere, it is still the style to have Boys.

Perhaps you are trying to run one or more Boys right this minute. Then you will know that since the world began they were never so tremendously important as now. Your hopes and your aims center on them. You must deliver them out of Boyhood into successful Manhood.

Will your sons stay with the land, or will
the will-o-the-wisp of the cities call them away? Armies of country Boys, who could be happiest and most successful on farms,
respond to the artificial glamour of town life before they are old enough to know their own minds. They do not know that the rewards of country life—in money, health, and happiness—are far greater. Make them realize that! Guide the restless ambitions of your Boys and spare no pains!

Machines have been a powerful factor in stemming the flow to the cities. Machines banish drudgery and make labor interesting; machines
foster the love of mechanics in the Boy; machines are builders of fortunes.

You now own many of the machines made by the International Harvester Company. We are headquarters for the International Full Line, including Titan tractors, International engines, and manure spreaders, Primrose cream separators, McCormick and Deering harvesting, haying, and corn machines, tillage tools, Peco plows, etc. Give the Boys every chance for liking farming and farm life. Perhaps more of these machines will help keep them contented.

BEN JOHNSON

The stand taken by President Wilson and Secretary of State Colby regarding the Russian situation renews one's pride in the fact that he is a citizen of a nation served by such real statesmen.

It is true that from the beginning
there were a few Democratic Senators, like Reed, opposed to the League of Nations, but those who later voted for the Lodge amendment, did so after using every effort to secure the adoption of the original treaty.
They voted for these reservations,
probably because they were in favor of battle, before the question is finally decided.

craft, but with the hope that peace with even a weak guarantee would be better than a continued state of debate and uncertainty.

"While America saved the world,
a Republican Senate, patriotically assisted by twenty or more Democrats, saved America.—Hartford Republican.

With more truth, it might have said: "America rescued the world from the sea of conflict and lead in the construction of a great barrier to prevent it from again falling in,
but when all the walls had been placed in position except the great American wall, many of the chief workmen (the Republican Senate)
being jealous of the great achievements of their leader revolted and some would not agree to place the wall in position unless certain big openings be cut through it, while others refused to assist at all and insisted upon its total destruction.
As a result, the world is now standing upon the spring board ready for another plunge."

When one more state ratifies the amendment giving women the right of suffrage, it will become a part of the Federal Constitution. The only immediate hope of those favoring the amendment is Tennessee and her legislature has been swaying in the balance for several days. If the proposition before that body were simply a question of for or against,
the question would soon be settled in favor of the amendment, but there is a legal phase that is worrying the members and in fact legal authorities throughout the country.
The state constitution contains a clause expressly prohibiting the ra-tification of amendments to the U. S.
constitution by a Legislature whose members were elected before Congress passed the resolution submitting the proposed amendments to the several states for consideration.
Many authorities are of the opinion that this clause is invalid. If the amendment is ratified, there will probably be a long-drawn-out legal not because they were in favor of battle, before the question is finally decided.

FALL STYLES

"Here and There About the Store"

The Millinery department is receiving every day the new fall hats.
Off-the-Face styles will predominate,
being made mostly of Duvelyn, in all shades of brown, heaver, and nasturtium; while the trimming
seems to be mostly ostrich, gold and silver, also a little tassel trimming is being shown.

In the Fall Suits you will not find much change from the late spring suits. The youthful box jacket model, and the conservative knee length coat, with tailored and belted styles are being shown in the fashionable shades of brown and blue.

200 pieces of smart new styles in fall gingham
now on sale. The assortment is an extensive showing of checks and plaids in new color combinations, that are even more attractive than any styles shown in several years.

The popularity of gingham as a dress fabric, will be even greater this fall, than they were last spring,
which was the greatest gingham season ever known.

It is always more satisfactory to have a large selection to choose from and you will find here an assortment to please the most exacting taste. Prices range from35c to 75c

Fordson Tractors

Ohio county is falling far short of her duty in raising wheat. We should at least raise enough wheat to bread our inhabitants. It is true that occasionally we have a bad season, and a big fall off in acreage and yield is inevitable, but we must not get discouraged. We must double our energies, strengthen our soil and the general average will be satisfactory. Some claim a shortage in labor. That's true, but a FORDSON TRACTOR will easily supply this deficiency and make the growing of a good crop of wheat more certain.

We Are Ready To Demonstrate

on your own farm the superior advantages of this famous farm horse. You can run your tractor all day and part of the night, or all night if you please. You have no idea what you can accomplish with a FORDSON TRACTOR until you try. We have the best tractor on the market. We are prepared to give you the service you need in keeping your tractor going. We have experienced mechanics and operators who know the game, and they are at your service at any time you need them. Remember, the FORDSON is the best tractor, and remember we have the only real service department in the county on tractors.

COOL SPRINGS

Aug. 9.—Another good rain visited this neighborhood. Saturday night.

Crops are late but looking fine. If we have late frost this fall, there will be a larger and better crop than last year, is our prophecy now.

Several of our young folks attended meeting at New Harmony, last week.

Our Sunday School is on the sick list. Do we intend to let it die out? Let every Baptist come put to church until the last Sunday in September. Young folks are especially invited for we need you.

Meeting will begin at the Christian church at Wysox, the 4th Sunday night in September.

Mrs. Tom Grubbs died at her residence near Oakland, Friday night, July 30, and was buried at Cool Springs, Saturday, July 31. She leaves a husband, three children and many friends to mourn her loss.

Mr. T. C. Dennis made a trip to Hartford, one day last week.

Little Carl McConnell, of Illinois, is visiting his uncle, Densla Swan and T. H. Fulton, this week.

Quite sad news reached Cool

Springs, Friday evening, from or near Fullman, Ill., of the death of Alex Wright. He was killed by a train. Mr. Wright was formerly of this vicinity, but had moved to Rockport some years ago, and later went to Illinois. His remains were brought here and buried Sunday in the presence of a large crowd.

FINDS SOLDIER BROTHER WHOM HE MOURNED AS DEAD

When Clarence Ray returned from work Friday evening and was on his way home he found his brother, Vernon Ray, whom he mourned as dead for two years, waiting for him at the foot of the town hill. The soldier brother served three years in the late war, and after the first year his name appeared in the casualty list. Not hearing from him any more, he was believed dead by members of his family.

Since his return from overseas, Mr. Ray has been in camp Hancock, Augusta, Georgia, and is here on a two months furlough.

His father resides in Illinois. Breckenridge News.

ALICE JOYCE

Many of the greatest men and women of the stage have had their names associated with one certain play.

Alice Joyce seems destined to have the same distinction. The Vitaphone star has had success after success, but, like all other motion picture stars, she has been without a role that stood out separate and distinct from the rest. In "The Vengeance of Durand," adapted from Rex Beach's powerful story adapted by Mr. and Mrs. George Randolph Chester, she has the best role in her notable career.

VERDICT

IN DIXIE AGAINST DRYS

Liberal Rolls Up Large Margin in Congressional Nomination Race in Virginia District

Norfolk, Va., August 13.—J. T. Deal was nominated for Congress by the Democratic party of the Second Virginia District the other day by a majority that probably will total 1,800 when all the returns are in. Deal was an avowed wet candidate and made his campaign on the light wine and beer issue.

He declared in favor of making of wines and beers for home consumption and also advocated their sale under restrictions that would eliminate the return of the saloons.

His opponent was W. J. Kendrick, who waged a hard fight on a dry platform, favoring the enforcement of the Volstead act.

Kendrick was indorsed by the Anti-Saloon League, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and various churches and reform organizations. He also was indorsed by organized labor.

Norfolk gave to Deal a majority of 2,721, which, with one exception, is the largest majority the city ever gave to a candidate for Congress in a Democratic primary.

The nomination is equivalent to an election.

PROHIBITION DIRECTOR

Lexington, Ky., August 16.—James H. Combs, Federal Prohibition Director, was restrained from limiting the number of liquor prescriptions a physician may issue in a decision handed down by United States District Judge A. M. J. Cochran the other day.

The decision rendered by Judge Cochran was made in the case of Dr. Francisco Simpson, of Louisville, against Prohibition Director Combs, asking that the Court issue an injunction against Prohibition Director Combs, from refusing to issue additional prescription blanks.

In speaking of the manner in which the law should be enforced and how fraudulent prescriptions issued for whisky might be discovered and disposed of, Judge Cochran said:

"The act contemplates an abundance of assistants, agents and inspectors. It provides for means of ascertaining the truth in each case. I cannot see why the proceeding of this nature should be slow and tedious. It cannot be readily defeated in the way suggested if the officer whose duty it is to hear charges of this sort has gumption.

"If he will not let a sham get by him, he can rely on the Federal Court, in the reviewing proceedings, not to let a sham get by it. There is nothing Federal Courts delight more to do than to dishonor shams."

Do you have trouble with the wicks of your oil stove sticking and hanging? Yes, we all do, but the Boss-Twin-Lift won't, for it is arranged different. It pushes the wick up from the bottom on two sides instead of a small cog wheel on one side. And it burns 99.66-100 per cent air to 34-100 per cent oil.

WATERLOO BOY

The Original Kerosene Tractor

In offering to you the Waterloo Boy, the Original Kerosene Burning Tractor, we believe we have selected the most practical, economical and dependable farm tractor on the market.

Points of Merit on Which Our Judgment Is Based:

PAST PERFORMANCE.. The Waterloo Boy has been a success on farms for five years. In no way is it an experiment.

ECONOMICAL.. It is a three plow tractor—most economical and practical size to use—burns kerosene perfectly without destroying lubricating oil. Its special, patented inbuilt manifold converts every drop of kerosene into pure gas—cylinders are not carbonized—spark plugs are not fouled. The perfect burning of kerosene saves the owner of the Waterloo Boy many dollars every year in cost of fuel and care of motor.

POWERFUL.. The two cylinders, with big bore and long stroke, furnish a guaranteed power of 12 H. P. at the draw bar and 25 H. P. at the belt, with ample reserve for emergencies. The Waterloo Boy pulls three plows under almost any field condition. Hyatt roller bearings at all important bearing points conserve full power. Weight of the tractor is sufficient to insure good traction for drive wheels.

SIMPLE.. Every part is easy to get at and easy to adjust or repair. It doesn't require a tractor expert to keep the Waterloo Boy in good working order. The crank case cover, the inspection plate, the upper half of gear case can all be removed for the purpose of inspection or repair—the operator can work from a standing position.

DURABLE.. Its heat-treated steel cut gears; its force and sight feed oiling system; its 11 sets of Hyatt Roller bearings at all important bearing points and its simple, powerful two-cylinder motor combined with uniformly high grade construction throughout, result in a tractor that has given and will give many years of dependable and economical service.

FOR ALL FARM WORK.. You can depend upon the Waterloo Boy in all farm power work, up to its high rated capacity. It is just as satisfactory in operating belt machines—threshers, shellers, ensilage cutters, hay balers, etc.—as it is in pulling tractor implements of all kinds.

General Reduction in Cost of Food And Clothing Predicted By Government Experts

Washington, August, 14.—A general reduction in retail prices of foods and clothing is forecast for this fall by Government price experts here.

Economic conditions now seem to indicate war inflation is subsiding.

Wholesale prices dropped to an average of slightly more than one per cent in the past 30 days, Labor Department reports showed to-day.

Meats, fish and vegetables now are stored in quantities far greater than one year ago, Agriculture Department surveys show.

Bumper crops of wheat and other cereals are in prospect, in fact, are partially harvested in the Southwest and farm labor is plentiful except in a few sections.

Luxury tax receipts are falling off, showing the stampede has stopped at stores selling luxuries, including automobiles, diamonds and extravagant clothing.

Diamond importations have dropped off more than 25 per cent.

Candy merchants all over the United States now are complaining of a dropping off of business.

The one pessimistic note in the situation is the effect the railroad rate increases may have. A number of officials, including economic expert, J. E. Weatherly, of the Justice Department, hold the new rate will increase living costs. The increase will be at least three times the additional cost of transportation or about $4,500,000,000, according to Weatherly. If Weatherly and his associates are right the present trend toward lower prices may be completely neutralized.

PEACE KEYNOTE OF COX SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE

Democratic Candidate Would Enter League, Immediately Ratify Treaty and State Interpretation of Covenant.

SAYS "BACK TO THE NORMAL" MEANS REACTION

Failure to Enforce Prohibition Is Worse Than Law's Violation—Declares Present Congress Has Not Passed a Single Constructive Law, but Has Spent Time and Millions in Seeking to Make America's Military Triumph an Odious Chapter in History—Favors Repeal of War Taxes,
Criminal Prosecution of Profiteers,
More Adequate Supervision of Railroads, a National Budget System, and Woman Suffrage.

Here is a summary of the speech of Governor James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for president, at the nomination ceremonies at Dayton:

League of Nations.—Would enter the league, immediately ratify the treaty and state our interpretation of the covenant in reservations as a matter of good faith and as a matter of precaution against any misunderstanding in the future. The interpretation to clearly show that the league is not an alliance and that its basic purpose is peace and not controversy.

Domestic Problems.—Would repeal war taxes; reduce federal taxation; suggests, in place of excess profits tax, substitution of volume of business tax.

Profiteering.—Promises penalization under the criminal law.

Labor.—Stimulate Americanization. Writ of injunction should not be abused. No necessity now for the drastic laws of war days; guarantee of free speech; recognition of the rights of the principle of collective bargaining. Child life of the nation should be conserved.

Agriculture.—Federal government should sponsor agriculture and food production. Farmer should be amply compensated for his work. Favors municipal markets. Regulation of cold storage. Would increase area of tillable land.

National Prosperity.—Objective should be decreased tenantry and stimulation of home ownership.

Food Supply.—More adequate supervision of railroads; utilization of waterways.

Financial and Commercial.—Extols federal reserve act and merchant marine. Would extend facilities for exchange and credit and stimulate foreign trade.

National Budget.—Favors a national budget system. Would reduce armament expenditures on entering league of nations.

Republican Ungenerosity.—Republicans failed to recognize that America had saved the world or to appreciate the struggles and sacrifices of those who, in arms or industry, hoped win the war. Present Congress has not passed a single constructive law, but spent time and millions in seeking to make military triumph an odious chapter in history.

Mexican Situation.—We have neither lust for their domain nor disposition to disturb their rights.

Disabled Soldiers.—Pledges immediate efforts to provide vocational training and favors employment of disabled soldiers of World War by Federal Board to supervise the rehabilitation of disabled soldiers.

Prohibition.—"Any candidate for the presidency who says he does not intend to enforce the law is more unworthy than the law violator."

Woman Suffrage.—Strongly favored.

Official Responsibility.—Opposed to "government by party;" pledges service to the people as a whole.

Education.—Federal government should not encroach on local control, but rather should create an enlarged public interest.

Campaign Contributions.—No money dividing law between the legitimate and the illegitimate, whereby purpose only dominates.

Industrial Peace.—We want a change from the world of yesterday, from the old industrial world. We are at the "forks of the road." So-called "return to the normal" means "reactionism."

Dayton, O., Aug. 7.—In his speech of acceptance today Governor James M. Cox, addressing a great crowd, said in part:

"We are in a time which calls for straight thinking, straight talking and straight acting. This is no time for wobbling. Never in all our history has more been done for government. Never was sacrifice more sublime. The most precious things of heart and home were given up in a spirit which guarantees the perpetuity of our institutions—if the faith is kept with those who served and suffered.

"The country received with interest, to say the least, the announcement from Chicago, where the Republican national convention was assembled, that a platform plank, dealing with the subject of world peace, had been drawn, leaving out the Lodge reservations, and yet remaining agreeable to all interests, meaning thereby the Lodge reservationists, the mild reservationists and the group of Republican senators that openly opposed the League of Nations in any form.

"As the platform made no definite commitment of policy and was, in fact, so artfully phrased as to make almost any deduction possible, it passed through the convention with practical unanimity. Senator Johnson, however, whose position has been consistent and whose opposition to the league in any shape is well known, withheld his support of the convention's choice until the candidate had stated the meaning of the platform, and announced definitely the policy that would be his, if elected.

"Senator Harding makes this new pledge of policy in behalf of his party: 'I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign.'

"This means but one thing—a separate peace with Germany!

"This would be the most disheartening event in civilization since the Russians made their separate peace with Germany, and infinitely more unworthy on our part than it was on that of the Russians. They were threatened with starvation and revolution had swept their country. Our soldiers fought side by side with the Allies. So complete was the coalition of strength and purpose that General Foch was given supreme command, and every soldier in the allied cause, no matter what flag he followed, recognized him as his chief. We fought the war together, and now before the thing is through it is proposed to enter into a separate peace with Germany! In good faith we pledged our strength with our associates for the enforcement of terms upon offending powers, and now it is suggested that this be withdrawn. Suppose Germany, recognizing the first break in the Allies, proposes something we cannot accept. Does Senator Harding intend to send an army to Germany to press her to our terms? Certainly the allied army could not be expected to render aid. If, on the other hand, Germany should accept the chance we offered of breaking the bond it would be for the express purpose of insuring a German-American alliance, recognizing that the Allies—in fact, no nation in good standing—would have anything to do with either of us.

JAMES M. COX

"This plan would not only be a piece of bungling diplomacy, but plain, unadulterated dishonesty, as well.

"No less an authority than Senator Lodge said, before the heat of recent controversy, that to make peace except in company with the Allies would 'brand us everlastingly with dishonor and bring ruin to us.'

"And then after peace is made with Germany, Senator Harding would, he says, 'hopelessly approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that understanding which makes us a willing participant in the consecration of nations to a new relationship.'

"In short, America, refusing to enter the League of Nations (now already established by twenty-nine nations) and bearing and deserving the contempt of the world, would submit an entirely new project. This act would either be regarded as arrant madness or attempted international bossism.

"These are fateful times. Organized government has a definite duty all over the world. The house of civilization is to be put in order. The supreme issue of the century is before us and the nation that halts and delays is playing with fire. The finest impulses of humanity, rising above national frontiers, must seek to make another world war impossible. Under the old order of international anarchy war came overnight, and the world was on fire before we knew it. It sickens our senses to think of another.

Ratification First Duty.

"The first duty of the new administration clearly will be the ratification of the treaty. The matter should be approached without thought of the bitterness of the past. The public verdict will have been rendered, and I am confident that the friends of world peace as it will be promoted by the league will have in numbers the constitutional requisite to favorable senatorial action. The capious may say that our platform reference to reservations is vague and indefinite. Its meaning, in brief, is that we shall state our interpretation of the covenant as a matter of good faith to our associates and as a statement against any misunderstanding in the future. The point is that after the people shall have spoken the league will be in the hands of its friends in the senate, and a safe index as to what they will do is supplied by what reservations they have proposed in the past. Some months ago, in a contributed article to the New York Times, I expressed my own opinion of the situation as it then was. I reproduce it here:

"There can be no doubt but that some senators have been conscientious in their desire to clarify the provisions of the treaty. Two things apparently have disturbed them: First, they wanted to make sure that the league was not to be an alliance, and that its basic purpose was peace and not controversy. Second, they wanted the other powers signing the instrument to understand our constitutional limitations beyond which the treaty-making power cannot go. Dealing with these two questions in order, it has always seemed to me that the interpretation of the function of the league might have been stated in these words:

"In giving its assent to this treaty, the senate has in mind the fact that the League of Nations which it embodies was devised for the sole purpose of maintaining peace and comity among the nations of the earth and preventing the recurrence of such destructive conflicts as that through which the world has just passed. The co-operation of the United States with the League and its continuance as a member thereof, will naturally depend upon the adherence of the League to that fundamental purpose.

"Such a declaration would at least express the view of the United States and justify the course which our nation would unquestionably follow if the basic purpose of the League were at any time distorted. It would also appear to be a simpler matter to provide against any misunderstanding in the future and at the same time to meet the objections of those who believe that we might be inviting a controversy over our constitutional rights, by making a senatorial addition in words something like these:

"It will of course be understood that in carrying out the purpose of the League, the government of the United States must at all time act in strict harmony with the terms and intent of the United States Constitution which cannot in any way be altered by the treaty-making power."

Helpful Additions Not Barred.

"Unquestioned friends of the League have made other proposals. Our platform clearly lays no bar against any additions that will be helpful, but it speaks in a firm resolution to stand against anything that disturbs the vital principle. We hear it said that interpretations are unnecessary. That may be true, but they will at least be reassuring to many of our citizens, who feel that in signing the treaty, there should be no mental reservations that are not expressed in plain words, as a matter of good faith to our associates. Such interpretations possess the further virtue of supplying a base upon which agreement can be reached, and agreement, without injury to the covenant, is now of pressing importance. It was the desire to get things started, that prompted some members of the senate to vote for the Lodge reservations. Those who conscientiously voted for them in the final roll call realized, however, that they acted under duress, in that a politically bigoted minority was exercising the arbitrary power of its position to enforce drastic conditions. Happily the voters of the republic, under our system of government, can remedy that situation, and I have the faith that they will, at the election this fall. Then organized government will be enabled to combine impulse and facility in the making of better world conditions. The agencies of exchange will automatically adjust themselves to the opportunities of commercial freedom. New life and renewed hope will take hold of every nation. Mankind will press a resolute shoulder to the task of readjustment, and a new era will have dawned upon the earth.

Federal Taxation.

"Federal taxation must be heavily reduced, and it will be done at once, if a Democratic administration is chosen in November. Without hampering essential national administrative departments, by the elimination of all others and strict economy everywhere, national taxes can be reduced in excess of two billion dollars yearly. Annoying consumption taxes, once willingly borne, now unjustified, should be repealed. The incomes from war-made fortunes, those of non-producers and those derived from industries that exist by unfair privilege may be able to carry their present load, but taxes on the earnings of the wage-earner, of the salaried and professional man, of the agricultural producer and of the small tradesman should be sharply modified. I believe that a bottom form of taxation, less than the so-called excess profits tax may be found and I suggest a small tax, probably one to one and one-half per cent on the total business of every going concern. It is to be understood that the term 'business' as used does not include income received by wage-earners, salaried men, agriculturists and the small business man who should be exempt from this tax. The profiteer and some of the highly capitalized units have used the excess profits tax as a favorite excuse for loading on the consumer by means of highly inflated selling prices many times the amount actually paid the government. A necessary condition to the national contentment and sound business is a just proportion between fair profits to business and fair prices to the consumer.

Wages Halt Profiteering.

"The tribe of profiteers has simply multiplied under the favoring circumstances of war. For years, large contributions have been made to the Republican campaign fund for no purpose except to buy a governmental underhold and to make illegal profits as the result of preference. Such largesses are today a greater menace to our contentment and our institutions than the countless temporary profiteers who are making a mockery of honest business, but who can live and fatten only in time of disturbed prices. If I am called to service as president means will be found, if they do not already exist, for compelling these exceptions to the great mass of square dealing American business men, to use the same yardstick of honesty that governs most of us in our dealings with our fellowmen, or in language that they may understand, to suffer the penalty of criminal law.

"It has been my observation that the man who learns our language, finds to a controlling public opinion and respects our laws; besides, in proportion as his devotion to American life develops his interest in the impulsive processes of revolution diminishes. We must be patient in the work of assimilation and studiously avoid oppressive measures in the face of mere evidence of misunderstanding. The necessity for the drastic laws of war days is not present now, and we should return at the earliest opportunity, to the statutory provisions passed in time of peace for the general welfare. There is no condition now that warrants any infringement on the right of free speech and assembly nor on the liberty of the press. The greatest measure of individual freedom consistent with the safety of our institutions should be given. Excessive regulation causes manifestations that compel restraint.

Law Enforcement.

"The legislative branch of government is subjected to the rule of the majority. The public official who fails to enforce the law, is an enemy both to the Constitution and to the American principle of majority rule. It would seem quite unnecessary for any candidate for the Presidency to say that he does not intend to violate his oath of office. Anyone who is false to that oath is more unworthy than the law violator himself.

"Morals cannot easily be produced by statute. The writ of injunction should not be abused. Intended as a safeguard to person and property, it could easily by abuse cease to be the protective device it was intended to be.

"We should not, by law, abridge a man's right either to labor or to quit his employment. However, neither labor nor capital should at any time or in any circumstances, take action that would put in jeopardy the public welfare.

"We need a definite and precise statement of policy as to what business men and workmen may do and may not do by way of combination and collective action. The law is now so nebulous that it almost turns upon the economic predilections of the judge or jury. This does not make for confidence in the courts nor respect for the laws, nor for a healthy activity in production and distribution. There surely will be found ways by which co-operation may be encouraged without the destruction of enterprise. The rules of business should be made more certain so that on a stable basis men may move with confidence.

"Government, however, should provide the means in the treatment of its employees, to keep in touch with conditions and to rectify wrong. It is needless to say that in order to be consistent, facts should at all times justify the pre-supposition that the government employees are properly compensated.

"The child life of the nation should be conserved; if labor in immature years is permitted by one generation, it is practicing unfairness to the next.

Adequate Farm Profits.

"Farming will not inspire individual effort unless profits, all things considered, are equal to those in other activities. An additional check to depleted ranks in the fields would be the establishment of modern state rural school codes. The federal government should maintain active sponsorship of this. Rural parents would be lacking in the element which makes civilization enduring if they did not desire for their children educational opportunities comparable to those in the cities. The price the consumer pays for foodstuffs is no indication of what the producer receives. There are too many turnovers between the two. The farmer raises his crop and the price which he receives is determined by supply and demand. His products in beef and pork and produce, pass into cold storage and ordinarily when they reach the consumer the law of supply and demand does not obtain. The preservation of foodstuffs by cold storage is a loss to humanity, and it should be encouraged. However, the time has come for its vigilant regulation and inasmuch as it becomes a part of interstate commerce, the responsibility is with the federal government. Supplies are gathered in from the farm in times of plenty. They can easily be fed out to the consumer in such manner as to keep the demand in excess of that part of the supply which is released from storage. This is an unfair practice and should be stopped. Besides, there should be a time limit beyond which perishable foodstuffs should not be stored.

"Our objective should be a decreased tenantry. With the period of occupancy uncertain, the renter strips land of its fertile elements, and each year diminishes our national assets. Under the operation of the federal reserve and the farm loan acts, encouragement has come to thousands who find that industry, character and intelligence are a golden security to the people's banker, the government of the United States. Multiply our home owners, and you will make the way of the seditious agitator more difficult.

Railroads and Waterways.

"Any discussion of the question of food supply leads very quickly to the closely related matter of transportation. There is no one thing which brings us so intermittently to critical conditions than the insufficiency of our transportation facilities. Both the railroads and the public are to blame. There has been no material addition to the total mileage in the last ten years, and the increase in terminals has been much less than required. At the beginning of the war the rolling stock was sadly reduced and inadequate. The public had not given in pay for service sufficient revenues on which credit could be allowed by the banks. Moral assistance was withheld because of railroad policies that did not bring approval. Many of these corporations had made themselves a part of political activities, local, state and national. Then there were more or less sporadic instances of stock watering operations, and the exploitation of utility properties for personal gain.

"Abuses were not general, but they were sufficient to bring the entire railroad systems of the country in disrepute. The good suffered with the evil. When the transportation lines were taken over by the government, they were barely able to limp through the task of the day. Unity in operation, the elimination of the long haul, and the merging of every mile of track and terminal and every car and engine into a co-ordinated plan of operation, enabled the government to transport troops and supplies, at the same time affording, under great stress, a satisfactory outlet for our industries. It should be remembered in this connection that except for the motor truck which supplemented transportation by rail, and except for the great pipe lines which conveyed oil for commercial purposes, we should not, in all probability have been able to throw our deciding strength into the balance and win the war. Any attempt to discredit the federal operation of railroads during the years of grave emergency is unfair. In the case of those who know the facts it is insincere. Too much cannot be said in praise of those who directed this work, nor of the men who physically operated the lines under the discouraging conditions of poor equipment. But all of this is water over the wheel. The problem of the railroads is still with us. The government and the public should render every co-operation in the utmost good faith, to give thorough test to private ownership. The railroads have had their lesson. Government regulation is accepted now as not only a safeguard to the public, but as a conserving process to the utility. Financial credit is necessary to physical rehabilitation and it should be sufficient for the periods of maximum demand. We should not lose sight, however, of the vast possibilities of supplementary service by water. The Great Lakes and St. Lawrence navigation project, particularly, should claim the interest of the government.

Federal Reserve System.

"It is almost unnecessary to speak of the Federal Reserve system in connection with the winning of the war, as, next to the consecration of our manhood and womanhood itself, the greatest factor was the marshalling into one unit through the Federal Reserve banks of the stupendous wealth of America. To those of vision who look out beyond our shores into that commercial domain where we are so justly entitled to enter in a time of peace, latent power of the Federal Reserve system can be seen promoting in every quarter of the globe an ever-widening flow of American commerce. We will soon have a merchant marine fleet of 11,000,000 tons aggregate, every ship flying the American flag and carrying in American bottoms the products of mill and mine and factory and farm. This would seem to be a guarantee of continued prosperity. Our facilities for exchange and credit, however, in foreign parts, should be enlarged and under the federal reserve system, banks should be established in important trading centers.

Reduction of Armament.

"I am convinced after considerable study of the subject that the expense of the government can, without loss of efficiency, be reduced to a maximum of four billion dollars, including sinking fund and interest on the national debt. When we enter the League of Nations, we should at the same time diminish our cost for armament. To continue expenditures in either the war or the navy departments on a vast scale, once our membership in the League is secured, would seem to be a very definite indication of the advantages of the world plan which we believe it possesses. An appealing fundamental in the League method, is the reduction of armaments. We cannot afford to do it, until other nations do likewise. If we do not enter the League, hundreds of millions of dollars must be spent for armaments. If we go in, and I believe the people will insist on it, then we can count on economies.

"The Republican leaders who have taken charge of their party and nominated its candidate, are no more possessed of the spirit of the hour than they were in 1912 when they precipitated a revolution within the rank and file of a great organization. If further proof were needed, the action of the present Congress supplies it. Not a constructive law can be cited. Money and time were wasted in seeking to make a military triumph an odious chapter in history—and yet is it not significant that after two years of sleuthful inquiry, there was nothing revealed in that vast enterprise, carrying billions of dollars in expense, upon which they could base even a whisper of dishonesty?

"The Mexican situation, trying to our patience for years, begins to show signs of improvement. Not the least of the things that have contributed to it, is a realization by the people of that country, that we have neither the lust for their domain, nor disposition to disturb their sovereign rights. Peace smiles upon the border and incentive to individual effort seems to be making a national aspiration.

Disabled Soldiers.

"I feel deeply that the rehabilitation of the disabled soldiers of the recent war is one of the most vital issues before the people and I, as a candidate, pledge myself and my party to those young Americans to do all in my power to secure for them without unnecessary delay, the immediate training which is so necessary to fit them to compete in their struggle to overcome that physical handicap incurred while in the service of their government. I believe also that the Federal Board of Vocational Rehabilitation as far as possible should employ disabled soldiers themselves to supervise the rehabilitation of disabled soldiers, because of their known sympathy and understanding. The board itself and all agencies under it should be burdened with the care of securing for the disabled soldier who has finished his training, adequate employment.

"The women of America, in emotion and constructive service, measured up during the war to every requirement, and emergency exacted much of them. They demonstrated not only willingness, but capacity. They helped win the war, and they are entitled to the privilege of voting as a matter of right and because they will be helpful in maintaining wholesome and patriotic policy. It requires but one more state to ratify the national amendment and thus bring a long-delayed justice. I have the same earnest hope as our platform expresses that some one of the remaining states will promptly take favorable action.

Education.

"There must be an awakened interest in education. The assumption that things are all right is an error. The plain fact reveals two startling things, one, a growing decadence in the ranks of teachers and the other, the existence of five and one-half millions illiterates. The army of instructors has been more or less demoralized through financial temptation from other activities which pay much better. We owe too much to the next generation to be remiss in this matter.

"There will be no attempt in this campaign to compete by dollars with our opposition. So many people have been in the money gathering business for the reactionary cause that the millions already in hand are more or less a matter of general information. All that we ask is that both parties deal in the utmost good faith with the electorate and tell the plain truth as to the amounts received, the contributors, and the items of disbursements.

"The sort of readjustment which will appeal to our self-respect and ultimately to our general prosperity, is the honest readjustment. Any unfair adjustment simply delays the ultimate process and we should remember the lesson of history that one extreme usually leads to another. We desire industrial peace. We want our people to have an abiding confidence in government, but no readjustment made under reactionary auspices will carry with it the confidence of the country.

"The inconveniences incident to the war have been disquieting; the failure of the Republican Congress to repeal annoying taxes has added to our troubles. The natural impulse is to forget the past, to develop new interests, to create a refreshed and refreshing atmosphere in life. We want to forget war and be free from the troubling thought of its possibility in the future. We want a change from the old world of yesterday where international intrigue made people mere pawns on the chess-board of war. We want a change from the old industrial world where the man who toiled was assured 'a full dinner pail' as his only lot and portion. But how are we to make the change? Which way shall we go? We stand at the forks of the road and must choose which to follow. One leads to a higher citizenship, a freer expression of the individual and a fuller life for all. The other leads to reaction, the rule of the few over the many and the restriction of the average man's chances to grow upward. Cunning devices backed by unlimited prodigal expenditures will be used to confuse and to lure. But I have an abiding faith that the pitfalls will be avoided and the right road chosen.

G. O. P. Vision Reactionary.

"The leaders opposed to Democracy promise to put the country back to 'normal.' This can only mean the so-called normal of former reactionary administrations, the outstanding feature of which was a pittance for farm produce and a small wage for a long day of labor. My vision does not turn backward to the 'normal' desired by the senatorial oligarchy, but to a future in which all shall have a normal opportunity to cultivate a higher stature amidst better environment than that of the past. Our view is toward the sunrise of tomorrow with its progress and its eternal promise of better things. The opposition stands in the skyline of the setting sun, looking backward, to the old days of reaction.

"I accept the nomination of our party, obedient to the Divine Sovereign of all peoples, and hopeful that by trust in Him the way will be shown for helpful service."
